MONT, O., Jan. 18.—The Hayes m at 9 o'clock Tuesday night was ed in silence and darkness, with e steady glow of a light in the athwest room of the mansion on the d by the stricken ex-president. The early report that the condition of that he was resting easily allayed most m, so that the sudden appearsee of Webb Hayes with the andied proved a shock to all. From Mr.

Ex-President Rutherford B. Hayes. Haves it was learned that the condition of his father took a sudden change early in the evening and rapid dissolution followed.

The members of the Hayes family have all along been exceedingly reticent concerning the condition of Gen. Hayes, and the attending physisian has followed the same course.

As immediate friend of the family gave a complete description of he scenes attendant upon Gen. Hayes' last hour. Early in the evening the condition of the exsident was quite favorable toward a good night, and with that assurance the family, worn out from their continued watching, retired early to rest. It was only for a short time, as they were hastily aroused and called to the bedside of their now dying father. The end soon came and the distinguished man passed peacefully and painlessly away at 10:45 p. m.

Rutherford B. Hayes, a son of the ex-president, was seen a short time after the death, and the above statement was corroborated.

His father died a happy Christian family. He has steadily ted from Kenyon college, being awarded the valedictory eration, with which he won great praise. He studied law with Thomas arrow, of Columbus, having the advantage Massociation with Judges Story and Green-liest. He established himself in the prac-tice in Lower Sandusky (now Fremont) forming a partnership in 1846, with Raiph P. Buckland. He removed to Cincinnati in 1800, where he remained until the outbreak of the civil war, taking prominent part in local politics as a whig and holding offices pertain-ing to his profession. June 7, 1881, he was aped major of the Twenty-third Ohio volunleer infantry, and served with distinction in the army, winning his star as brigadier-general at the battle of Cedar Creek. He was also evetted to the rank of major-general for liantry in the field. He was elected to conin the election of 1861, retaining his seat and winning the approval of the people as a second, conservative working member. In he was nominated by the republicans to the office of governor of Ohio. He was twice elected, defeating William Allon and George H. Pendleton. He was defeated for congress in 1872 on his platform of COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 18.—Immediately upon the assembling of the legislature Gov. McKinley sent the following special message on the death of ex-President Hayes:

It is my painful duty to announce the death at 11 o'clock last night, at Fremont, O., of Rutherford B. Hayes, who was a representative in songress, three times governor of his native state, and president of the United States. He was also a soldier of exceptional distinc-tion in the late war, and during his retirement to private life occupied his time in good works and general benefac-tions. His death is an event of great public sorrow. Out of respect for the memory of the citizen, soldier and statesman, I recommend that appropriate action be taken by the gen-eral assembly. The News at Washington.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Coming so soon after the sudden death of Gen. Butler and the sad ending of Senator Kenna, the demise of ex-President Haves created something of a shock to people in official life here. Flags are flying at half mast to-day on all public buildings in Washington. President Harrison received the news of his predecessor's death this morning. Last night he telegraphed an inquiry to Mr. Webb Hayes concerning the condition of his father and about 10 o'clock the answer came that the expresident was resting easily. When the president learned of the death of Mr. Hayes he was much surprised, in view of the encouraging information which he received last night. President Harrison will not attend the funeral of Mr. Haves, but he will probably send a representative to Fremont. A special meeting of the cabinet was held this afternoon, at which the following executive order was drafted and adopted:

To the People of the United States: The death of Rutherford B. Hayes, who was relient of the United States from Marci. 4. 18:7, to March 4, 1881, at his home in Fremont, O., at 11 o'clock p. m. yesterlay, is an event the announcement of which will be received with very general and very sincere sorrow. His public service extended over many years and over a wide range of official duty. He was a patriotic citizen, a lover of the flag and of our free institutions an industrious and conscienious civil officer, a soldier of dauntless courage, a loyal comrade and friend, a sympathetic months prior to his birth, leaving his grown in the public esteem, and the historian will not fail to recognize the conscientiousstrongly characterized his whole public career. As an expression of the public sorrow, it is rdered that the executive mansion and the everal executive departments at Washington e draped in mourning and the flags thereon laced at half-staff, for a period of thirty days, and that on the day of the funeral all public usiness in the departments be suspended, and hat suitable military and naval honors under the orders of the secretaries of war and of the navy be rendered on that day.

BENJAMIN HARRISON. Executive Mansion, Washington, D. C., Jan. By the President.

J. W. FOSTER, Secretary of State. The president expressed his regret that he would not be able to attend the funeral in person, but expressed a wish that he should be represented by some of his official associates. It was thereupon determined that Secretary Charles Foster of the treasury, Secretary Noble, Secretary Rusk and Postmaster-General Wanamaker should proceed to Fremont as the representatives of the president. The navy department has designated Capt. Powell, and Commanders Dickens and Houston to represent it at the funeral of Mr. Hayes. They left Frenont to-night. The attorney-general called the attention of the supreme court to the death, and the court adjourned. The senators who went early to the capitol this morning conferred together, and looking up precedentsthe last being the death of ex-President Monroe-decided that the senate should adjourn immediately after reading the journal, as a token of respect for the deceased.

Senator Sherman was perhaps more ntimately associated with ex-President Hayes than any other senator. He was deeply moved, and after the senate had adjourned at his own motion, he said: "I knew him as well, perhaps, as any one man can know another. He was always fair and just to friend and foe, and sometimes failed to say 'No' when it would have been better for him to have done so, because of his disposition to oblige every one.

"The south should feel profoundly grateful, for with infinite courage he extended to the white men of that section an opportunity to reorganize their states at a time when they had been bitterly unjust to him. The death of ex-President Hayes comes to me like a sudden blow. I expected him to become my guest at the inauguration of the incoming president. He certainly had no expectation of death and made arrangements for the future with confidence and cheerfulness." Senator Brice spoke very feelingly of Mr. Hayes, whom he knew well. "I will, at the proper time," said he, "pay my tribute to the worth of Mr. Hayes as a man, a citizen and a public official. As a democrat, I criticized with much hate and great feeling the conduct and course of affairs by which in 1876 and 1877 he became president, and have ever since felt a deep sense of wrong at the outcome; but the warmth and kindliness, the fairness and tenderness of the ex-president were such that I was never able to feel any sense of resentment against him individually.' The death of ex-President Hayes was received quietly by the members of the house. Time had mellowed the passions growing out of the fierce political contest which ended in Mr. Hayes' elevation to the presidency. The members of the Ohio delegation, nearly quainted with the ex-president, spoke kindly of him. It was recalled by democratic members that they had heard of Mr. Hayes making a political speech since he left the White House. The delegation conferred in the house this morning and it was decided to follow the lead of Senator Sherman in the

Procession of Unemployed Men is Amsterdam Degenerated Into an Unruly Mob, which Gave the Police of th City All They Could Do to Suppress It-Many Arrests Made and More Trouble

AMSTERDAM, Jan. 21.-Following the example of their brethren in London d Brussels, the unemployed work men of this city determined to hold a procession vesterday to impress upon the authorities and citizens the dire poverty which is afflicting the working classes. After great confusion the line was started. No estimates have been made as to the number of men who took part, but in view of what occurred, it was fortunate that the large number who did march had no firearms. The procession passed through a number of principal streets, growing noiser and more demonstrative as it was found that the police did not inter-

Finally the mob, for into such the rocession had degenerated, stopped in front of a large bakery and at tempted to take the place by storm. The police allowed two of the men to enter the bakery to ask for bread. These men demanded food from the proprietors, and met with a prompt and decided refusal.

At last they became so disorderly that body of 200 police attempted to disperse them. The mob resisted, and a desperate melee occurred, in which volleys of stones were thrown at the officers. Several of the gendarmes were quite badly injured. The police, with drawn swords, repeatedly charged the crowd, and inflicted many sword cuts on the rioters. The procession was finally broken up, but even then isolated batches of the rioters continued fighting for hours. The leaders of the mob were captured by the police.

Further Particulars.

AMSTERDAM, Jan. 20 .- This city has been in a turmoil since 5 o'clock this afternoon. Unemployed workingmen have gathered in the open spaces, and have been harangued by socialist and anarchist speakers. They have refused to disperse at the command of the police. Until 11 o'clock the police were busy in all parts of the city charging with drawn swords upon disorderly crowds. Throughout the city revolutionary hand bills have been scattered broadcast and posted on walls and Altogether the police have made thirty-five or forty arrests. More trouble is expected.

Coughlin Released From the Illinois State JOLIET, Ill., Jan. 21.-Jailer Morris and Deputy Spears arrived on the Alton at 2:30 o'clock with the order of the supreme court for Dan Coughlin. Coughlin was questioned by a reporter in the guard hall, but refused to speak of his case or his future. The party left at 3:45 for Chicago, and on arrival Coughlin was taken to the Cook county jail, where he was placed in a condition of Business Throughout the Country as Shown by R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review—A Small Shrinkage in Volume Accounted for by the Prevalence of Severe Weather—Mone? Comparative-ly Easy and Stocks Strong—Business Failures, Etc.

New York, Jan. 21.-R. G. Dunn & Co.'s weekly review of trade this week

Severe weather appears to account in part for a small general shrinkage in business, in many branches checking purchases and in others output or deliveries. Yet owing to the same influence, stocks of winter goods have been extensively cleared off and resulting orders for spring goods have been more liberal. The volume of domestic trade continues larger than last year, but exports are decidedly smallerfrom New York in three weeks of January 78,562,861 below the same week last year. As imports are meanwhile very heavy—for the two weeks of January $3,919,130 more than last year—the prospect of further gold exports causes no surprise. There is much hesitation regarding the action of congress on variou measures; and the uncertainty about th silver purchases repeal, the prospects of the antioption bill, and the defeat of the pooling amendment of the interstate commerce act all influenced markets and trade to some extent. There is also a somewhat gen-enal increase in complaints about collections, although money at nearly all markets is comparatively easy and in supply adequate for legitimate demands. At Boston the dry-goods trade is excellent, western stocks being low. Cottons are sold far ahead, the demand exceeding the supply, and woolen mills are fully employed with the best prospects. Trade in boots and shoes is very satisfactory; leather is ctive and firm; the rubber works are full, and sales of wool unusually large, 5,233,600 pounds, with prices tending upward. At Philadelphia iron is in better demand, but severe weather hinders the movement of coal and hardware, the trade in paints and glass and shipments of groceries, though the demand is exceedingly brisk. More activity is seen in dry goods, though deliveries from factories are delayed. At Baltimore oyster packing is suspended by ice, but prospects for the coming season are regarded good. At Pittaburgh the weather affects coal deliveries, and some mills Chicago reports general clearing up of winter goods and liberal purchases for the spring with heavy retail trade. At St. Louis trade is strong in shoes, clothing, drugs and saddler; and collections fairly prompt. Business i good at Nashville, but affected by the weather at Knoxville and Atlanta and only fair at New Orleans, though sugar is very strong and receipts of rice are large. Wheat is half a cent weaker, with large receipts and small exports, and it is still note-worthy that the western deliveries are inconsistent with reports of the last crop. Corn is a cent and oats half-a cent higher Cotton fell an eighth, but recovered a shade with large sales, antioption reports affecting the trade more than any change in actual su plies. Pork products are somewhat stronger The stock market has been strong. Money has fallen to 212 per cent. on call with large receipts from the interior. The confidence re garding the future of business is in all parts of the country remarkably strong and general especially in view of the interest taken in pending measures in congress.

The business failures occurring throughout the country during the past seven days number 290. For the corresponding week of last year the figures were 274.

WENT THROUGH A BRIDGE. One Man Killed and a Number Injured by the Plunge of a Derailed Train Through a Bridge Near Peru, Ind. PERU, Ind., Jan. 21.-The northbound express train from Chicago on the Lake Erie & Western road due at Peru at 1:58 a. m. was wrecked about a mile south of this city.

Among the fifteen passengers on board the train not one escaped injury. The entire train consisted of engine, smoking, express and chair cars, were precipitated on the ice of the river 35 feet below. A broken rail about 100 feet from the river threw the train from the track and the train continued on the ties until reaching the bridge, when the first two tiers gave way and the entire train went down. The engine stood upright and the cars covered it with its wreckage. The fireman jumped, but Engineer Griffin was pinned in his cab and taken out severely scalded. The wreck took fire and was burned completely. Brakeman Richard Neff was badly hurt, but pulled himself out of the wreck, lighted a lantern and ran back and flagged a freight train which was following. It was stopped only about a hundred feet from the wreck and another horrible catastrophe was averted. It is miraculous no more were killed, as the cars were hurled over stones and not a splinter of wood was saved from the flames. The list of killed and in-

FREMONT, O., Jan. 20 .- Bright and lear, but cold, dawned the funeral day of Gen. Rutherford Birchard Hayes, expresident of the United States, and the streets were early filled with the thousands who had come from far and near to do honor to the memory of the soldier and statesman who had passed away full of years and honors. Excursion trains from all over the state deposited soldiers, veterans and civilians at the little depot, and by 10 o'clock nearly all who were to take part in the procession had arrived. Secretaries Charles Foster, Rusk, Noble and Postmaster-General Wanamaker, representing President Harrison, arrived early, and Presidentelect Cleveland came in on the train which reached here about 9 o'clock. The streets were all cleared up by order of ness," said a New Yorker to a Chicago man, "your town is merely doing what Ohio did long ago." "What is that?" demanded the Chicagoan with some asperity. At 9 a. m., however, the general public were admitted. First came the children of the tablic schools, marshalled by their teachers. Then came the odd fellows, and other organizations of which Gen. Haves was a member, and these were followed by the veterans of the Loyal Legion and the Grand Army of the Republic. There was no crowding or confusion, and the military guard at the doors of the house, and in the hall where the casket lay, was merely formal. The people passed rapidly through, casting a glance at the peaceful face of the dead statesman, and reverently continued out through a rear door.

The funeral services began at 2 o'clock. Rev. J. L. Albriton, of the local Methodist Episcopal church, read a psalm. Rev. Dr. W. Bashford delivered a prayer and there was singing. The exercises at the grave were under the anspices of the Grand Army of the Republic. The funeral procession was commanded by Col. Corbin, assistant adjutant general U. S. A. The order was:

I simply state that II am Druggist and Postmaster here and am therefore in a position to judge. I have tried many Cough Syrups but for ten years past have found nothing equal to Boschee's German Syrup. I have given it to my baby for Croup with the most satisfactory results. Every mother should have it. J. H. Hobbs, Druggist and Postmaster, Moffat, Texas. We present facts, living facts, of to-day Boschee's German Syrup gives strength to the body. Take no substitute.
